Verses

1.,5. I know the way I've planned for you;
2. If you seek me with your heart,
3. Af - ter a time has drift - ed by,
4. When you call and pray to me,

Background and Liturgical Use: This is a poetic adaptation of Jeremiah 29:11-14, which is an expression of hope and promise in God's action in our lives. This song would be appropriate during the season of Lent, especially on the Fourth Sunday of Lent (Cycle C), in relationship to the Gospel story of the Prodigal Son. You Will Find Me in Your Heart could also be used during the season of Advent, during the Triduum, and for weddings and communal celebrations of reconciliation or anointing.

Performance: The melody of this song is an English traditional lullaby, "Golden Slumbers," and should be performed and sung in a very gentle, tender and prayerful manner. Simplicity should be chosen above any other principle in regards to this song.
