

Are You Ready to Meet the Bridegroom?

L. E. Larsen & Frederick Arthur Graves, 1898

$\text{♩} = 100$

1. What, my friend, do you say to the Sav - ior this day? Are you
 2. There are sheep gone a - stray, they have left the nar - row way, They're not
 3. But I fear there will be ma - ny living thought - less - ly, Go - ing
 4. Then let all of us learn to fill lamps so they burn, And be rea - dy to meet the Bride - groom in the sky? For the king - dom of Heav'n is like rea - dy to meet the Bride - groom in the sky! For their love grow - ing cold, they are fo - rth to meet the Bride - groom in the sky; And their lamps will not burn, so for rea - dy to meet the Bride - groom in the sky; Not be like fool - ish ones, n - o virgins three and sev'n, Go - ing forth to meet the Bride - groom in the sky.

 far from the fold, And not ready to meet the Bride - groom in the sky.
 oil they'll re - turn, And the Bride - groom Je - sus com - eth in the sky.
 oil when He comes, But be ready to meet the Bride - groom in the sky.

Refrain

Are you rea - dy to meet the Bride - groom in the sky? Are you rea-dy to meet the Bride-groom in the sky? The day is near when Bride-groom in the sky?

He'll ap-pear; O be rea-dy to meet the Bride-groom in the sky.
