

In the Great Beyond

Lewellyn Jackson Coppage, 1893

John Henry Rheem

♩=84

1. There's a ci - ty of jas - per, of pearl and of gold, Where
2. There's a far - a - way ha - ven of joy and of peace; Se-
3. There are loved ones and friends who have passed on be - fore, Their 4. There's a crown of re - joic - ing so glor - ious and bright, For sigh - ing and sad - ness shall ne - ver - more be; Whe - re glo - ri - ous vi - sions of

- cure from the dan - gers of break - er and beach; Where the rage of life's dark, an - gry la - bors are end - ed, their jour - ney com - plete; And their rest shall be sweet on that each who the Mas - ter's cross meek - ly shall bear, And its rare gems of beau - ty our rap - ture un - fold, And that is the ci - ty I'm hop - ing to see. wa - ters shall cease; And that is the ha - ven I'm striv - ing to reach. Oh, that ver - dure clad shore, And they are the friends I am hop - ing to meet. eyes shall de - light; Oh! that is the crown I am long - ing to wear.

Refrain

beau - ti - ful, beau - ti - ful ci - ty... The home that's pre - pared for the blest; Where those who are faith - ful in serv - ing the Mas - ter, Shall thro' all e - ter - ni - ty rest.

