

The Great Judgment Day

Haldor Lillenas, 1917

Haldor Lillenas

♩=92

1. Some day when time shall have writ - ten Its sto - ry, and mer - cy is
 2. Those who re - ject - ed the Sav - ior And spurned all His in - fi - nite
 3. Those who would trust in their good - ness, De - ny - ing the need of the 4. But those who trust - ed the Sav - ior, Re - pent - ed and turned from their past; The mul - ti - tude mil - lions shall ga - ther To judg - ment, an ar - my so grace, Who oft - en had been free - ly of - fered His par - don - ing kiss and em - cross, Will find their self right - eous - ness van - ish, Their gar - ments but rags and but sin, Shall hear the glad mes - sage of wel - come: "Well done, to My joy en - ter vast. From all of the ends of cre - a - tion, From

 - brace, And those who ne - glect - ed to seek Him— "Some dross. And those who by some means or o - ther Would in." Their sins from the book have been blot - ted, Their grave - yard, from o - cean, from land, Each race, ev - ery tongue, tribe and o - ther time," this was their plea— Shall hear, "De - part, I nev - er en - ter, but not thro' the blood, For ev - er a - way shall be re - cord is whit - er than snow, Through - out all the un - end - ing

Refrain

na - tion Be - fore the white throne then must stand. knew you"; How sad will their des - ti - ny be! You will be there, ban - ished To dark - ness of night with - out God. ag - es The joy of their Lord they shall know.

I will be there; Shall our hearts tre-mble with fear or des-pair? When the great Judge our rit.

names will call On that great and dread-ful day.