The Risk Is Too Great

James Rowe, 1917

Haldor Lilienas

Don’t trust to your good-ness to save you at last, For only the Savior can Don’t try to go on without Christ as your guide, Lest foes over-take you and

Don’t try to succeed without Christ as your friend, Because if you do, you will fail in the end; Don’t put off salvation until ’tis too late, Don’t e-vils be-tide; He knows the right way unto Heaven’s fair gate, Don’t blot out your past; So trust Him complete-ly to-day, do not wait, Don’t live without Je-sus, the risk is too great. The risk is too great, the risk is too great, Each walk without Je-sus, the risk is too great. The risk is too great, the risk is too great.

day you are fac- ing a ter-ri-ble fate; Be saved ere too late, face Heaven’s bright gate, Don’t live without Je-sus: The risk is too great.

Refain

Public Domain
Courtesy of the Cyber Hymnal™