

One Thousand Years

Jennie Wilson, 1913

Lucious D. Morris

♩=85

1. The prom-ise has been giv - en that our Lord will come a - gain, And
2. Then Sa - tan shall be bound with chains and in the pit be thrown, Where,
3. Oh! bless - ed are the faith - ful who shall then be first to rise, For earth will bloom with beau - ty when with an - gels He ap - pears; Then held a cap - tive he no more the na - tions can de - ceive; While o - ver them the se - cond death no pow - er can ob - tain; Their

He o'er sin will tri - umph, and no death, no grief nor pain those who have been true to Christ and suff - ering for Him known, Sav - ior's face they shall be - hold with glad, a - dor - ing eyes,

Refrain
Shall be in His do - min - ion while He reigns one thou - sand years.
The re - sur - rect - ion call shall hear and all their graves shall leave. One And shar - ing in His king - dom, they one thou - sand years shall reign.

thou - sand years of glad - ness, one thou - sand years of peace, Shall come when Je - sus reigns on earth and bids all strife to cease; One thou - sand years of bless - ing, one thou - sand years of love, Will make this world re - splend - ent with glo - ry from a - bove.