

The Two Ways (Lyll)

Jennie R. Lyll, 1877

Frank J. Robertson, 1893

♩=100

1. There are but two ways in life, my friend, The wrong and the right, the
2. There are but two roads in life, my friend, The straight and nar-row, the
3. The one is be-set with foes, my friend, 'Tis full of al-lure-ments, but false and the true; They're coun-ter to each from end to end, Save e-broad and the plain; Think well which one you will take, my friend, You will dan-ger is there; The o-ther leads stead-ily on, my friend, To a

Refrain

- ter-ni-ty lim-its the two. There are but two ways in life, but two ne'er tra-vel this way a-gain. There are but two ways, but two ways in life, There are but two ways, but Heav'n that is bright a-nd fair.

ways,
two ways in life; The one leads to glo-ry, and the o-ther leads to death: Oh, which of the two will you take?